Moon Lagar Amber Revolution

Item 26646 Arriving in November

$34.99

PWS

"This is a so-called "orange wine," made in a venture with Simon Woolf. The name references that the wine began fermenting with the full moon. Very little sulfur added. Totally wild fermentation with no addition of any yeast or enzyme. As tends to happen, this is very powerful for a (so-called) white. Not nearly as oxidative as many of them are, it is done well. It's very concentrated in the mid-palate too. Granting that this is not exactly your normal white and certainly not to be used as a simple sipping wine, this holds its balance extremely well and is not too extreme in any way. Needless to say, it needs an open mind and a food pairing to show its best." 91 points - Mark Squires, Robert Parker Wine Advocate

2013 LBV Port

Item 20747 Arriving in November

$29.99

PWS

“Sourced from the winery's quintas at Vale d’Agodinho and Trovisca, this is dry, tight and lifted. It's not the richest and deepest of the LBVs I've seen from this producer, but its focus and the length on the finish are superb. Very expressive as well, this shows brilliantly just now. It can also age and develop if you want to hold it. There will be no problem now or 15 years from now, I suspect. This shows again why traditionally styled LBVs are such great bargains, perhaps the greatest value in Port.” 92 points - Mark Squires, eRobert Parker
